NATIONAL NEWS NOTES.

EAGER SEEKERS FOR OFFICE GIVE THE PRESIDENT A REST.

Portrait Gallery Additions of Note-Important Facts Concerning United States Marshals-Marrier and Her Poem, Washington-National.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The president has fewer callers than any day for some time. He is beginning to feel that the heaviest part of his work in the matter of receiving calls is over. It is possible that a great many would have called had it not been that it was cabinet day. Politicians as a rule, especially the experienced ones, have found that their interviews are cut shorter on cabinet than on other days. On three days of the week the president gives three hours and a half to callers. On the two cabinet days he can spare but two hours, though now and then he gives an hour or two in the afternoon after cabinet meeting to special interviews, which are arranged by appointment.

The painting of President Arthur, which has been in the East Room for the past two years, though considered a very good one, has never been purchased by the government. It remains the property of Mr. Le Clair, of New York, the artist who painted it. It will be repurchased by the government in its place will be hung a portrait of President Arthur by Huntington, which was ordered by the senate committee on the library. The Huntington portrait arrived, but it will probably not be put in place until after the summer closing up of the White House. A land is now being painted by a New York artist for the White House. It will be finished before the president's return.

An official of the department of justice said that it was not the intention of Attorney General Garland to make any appointments of special agents to take the place of those whose resignations have been asked for until the necessity for their services arose. The business of these special agents have been the investigation of accounts of United States marshals. Though it is not generally known, it is stated as a fact that marshals are, as a rule, more irregular in their accounts than any other class of government officials. It is the rarest occurrence for marshals to surrender their offices with clean balance sheets. Some of them, as was shown by the congressional investigation last winter, have misappropriated thousands of dollars. In many cases the accounts of the marshals in the southern states are in a very bad condition, and there is no prospect that the department can ever obtain a settlement of them. The accounts of some of the clerks of the United States circuit courts are also badly muddled. It is the intention of the attorney general to have a reckoning on the 1st of July with all marshals. He will endeavor to force a settlement by the aid of the courts. The investigation, however, will be made by United States district attorneys instead of by special agents.

Miss Maria McLane, the old lady who has made so many calls on the White House, who has never been able to see the president, entered the East Room and announced that she intended to remain there until she did see the president or she would know the reason why. She was told that the president was engaged in a private meeting. She replied that she had heard that the president was tired of it. Miss McLane has recently produced a poem, which she desired to read to the president in person. After remaining at the White House a long time she gave it up, and left her poem with one of the bookkeepers to be handed to the president. It went the way of a dozen others of her poems for the president's eye.

An Ohio democrat who has been here since March unsuccessfully looking for an office said: "I return to the Buckeye state weary and sad. I have worked harder for the past four months than I ever did in my life, and I have only my pains for my trouble. I could get nothing. There are a lot of fellows from Ohio here in the same fix as myself, but they have not yet seen the error of their way, and they are still hanging on, waiting for something to turn up. The Ohioans have not been as well treated as we expected we would. I could give you the names of two Ohio men who are here, who came here with an idea that they would be appointed assistant secretaries of some of the departments. Either of them to-day would gladly accept a clerkship in the department where they expected to rule."

In the early part of last winter six electric lights were placed near the White House, one at each gate, two in front of the main door and on each of the walks between the gate and door. They were kept in order until several evenings since, when they were disposed with by order of the president until next winter. At present only the old fashioned gas lamps are used.

General Grant.

MOUNT McFERRON, N. Y., June 26.—Dr. Shreve prepared the following official statement of Gen. Grant's condition:

"The progress of the disease from which Gen. Grant is suffering is, hitherto, any accident and complication, necessarily slow. Comparing the condition of the patient with what it was a month ago, the changes which have taken place can be appreciated. During this period of time into consideration, it can be said that the swelling under the lower jaw has increased and become harder. The ulceration on the right side of the base of the tongue has become deeper and more irregular. It is quite warm and is occasionally counterbalanced by the effusion of his local malady."

Gen. Grant's condition shows no change since for the past twenty-four hours. He had a passive night with the usual wakefulness, which was offset by his morning sleep. It is quite warm and toward noon he came out on the porch. His chair was thickly pilowed and with a blanket wrapped around him from the waist down. He submitted to an outdoor photographic sitting. He looked unusually haggard and worn.

A Respite and Reception.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Two gentlemen were urging the appointment of a collector at a place in New York, for which there were a number of applicants. It is supposed that the same informant appeared on the papers of all of the leading applicants, and the friends of a dark horse desired the president to express a preference for their man. After a lengthy argument, in which the situation was fully discussed, the president put an end to such aspirations, by declaring that it was a matter for the secretary of the treasury to determine. The committee had to be satisfied with this decision. Such scenes and interviews are of daily occurrence at the White House, yet the politicians have to be instructed anew every time they have a mission to perform. The president had a respite from callers, the majority of visitors to the White House being ladies who desired to pay their respects to Miss Cleveland. An informal reception was held in the East Parlor, and upwards of a hundred cards were presented to and honored by the mistress of the White House.

Unharmonious. NEW YORK, June 26.—The Sun's Washington special from an occasional correspondent says: "All is not harmony in the cabinet. The president is troubled. He is not at one with the secretary of state, and the differences that have arisen will not be mitigated by time or the progress of the administration. Mr. Bayard's course in regard to appointments and the general spirit in which he has conducted the department have been a great disappointment to the president and to some other members of the cabinet. Mr. Bayard, they say, has given up his position and is not to be guided by any fixed policy or logical purpose, and he is declared to be in the line of the desert and their settlement in Syria under the amercement of Saul and Solomon to their Babylonian captivity, their residence, their wanderings on the hills, and their final settlement in Afghanistan. It concludes by exhorting the Afghans to trust in God, who will preserve them from their terrible enemy, Russia, who is waiting to devour them."

Mr. Doolittle. MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 26.—A New York special to the Journal says ex-United States Senator Doolittle will publish an open letter in that city denying the charges of the New York Times in connection with Connolly, who signed an affidavit that Doolittle, while senator, obtained a permit for Connolly to trade in cotton, and accepted a promise of part of the profits for his services. In the letter he claims this is the only charge against him or the public interest, and does not affect his personal or political morality or integrity.

His denial of the charges by letters and affidavits, from Secretary of War Manning, Mr. Noer, chief of the division since 1863; and Mr. Hanson & Riley, who granted the permit to Connolly, who admitted that Connolly, after getting the permit, came to him and wanted him to take an interest in the business, which he had right to do, but he refused to publish Mr. Doolittle's letters, and he claims his attacks were actuated by personal malice.

LONDON CLUB SCANDAL.

GAMBLERS ROUTED AND A DEMOCRATIC CLUB HOUSE LOOTED.

The Revised Bible According to the Ameer of Afghanistan—The Cholera Riots in Spain—Garmyle and Fortescue—Foreign News Notes.

LONDON, June 26.—Four men were ejected from the European club. They raised the cry that they had been evicted in the club house. A mob that quickly gathered smashed the windows of the building. The police now arrived and searched the house for the alleged gamblers, but none were to be found. The police then had recourse to a neighboring social democratic club, thinking the gamblers might have taken refuge there. Here the police made a forcible entry, and traced their descent from Adam through Japhet, their subject in Egypt, their deliverance therefrom by Moses, their wanderings in the desert, and their settlement in Syria under the amercement of Saul and Solomon to their Babylonian captivity, their residence, their wanderings on the hills, and their final settlement in Afghanistan. It concludes by exhorting the Afghans to trust in God, who will preserve them from their terrible enemy, Russia, who is waiting to devour them.

The Revised Bible. LONDON, June 26.—The Pall Mall Gazette prints a hitherto unpublished proclamation of the Ameer of Afghanistan, by his subjects issued in 1882. It reviews the history of the Afghans, claiming that they are descended from the lost ten tribes of Israel. It traces their descent from Adam through Japhet, their subject in Egypt, their deliverance therefrom by Moses, their wanderings in the desert, and their settlement in Syria under the amercement of Saul and Solomon to their Babylonian captivity, their residence, their wanderings on the hills, and their final settlement in Afghanistan. It concludes by exhorting the Afghans to trust in God, who will preserve them from their terrible enemy, Russia, who is waiting to devour them.

The Cholera in Spain. MADRID, June 26.—The riots in this city were made the subject of an animated discussion in the Cortes. ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

Hon. George A. Dunnington Shot by Unknown Political Enemies.

GRAFTON, W. Va., June 26.—This place has been excited over the shooting with which Mr. Dunnington, editor of the Sentinel, and one of the best known men in the state. The cause of this dastardly crime is supposed to be set forth in the following anonymous letter received by Mr. Dunnington a few days ago, but which he at the time kept secret.

GRAFTON, W. Va., June 26. "DUNNINGTON: We don't want any traitors in our party. If you have made a bargain with McFar, come out and say so, we will know which side you are on. We don't want to take a paper which pretends to be Republican and is published in the interest of the Democrats. McCormick is right, and you are a renegade democrat. I believe you had better leave town, or you might wake up some morning and find yourself in hell. I see by the Eagle that you talk private to McFar. You had better sell out to him and let it be done with a clean conscience. I will kick a republican out of office, ain't a good republican and ought to be run out of town. D—n you, go, or we will kill you."

"REPUBLICAN." The McGraw referred to in this epistle is the recently appointed Democratic editor of internal revenue for this state, Mr. McCormick, republican, ousted by the exertions of Dunnington and the Wheeling Intelligencer. Dunnington saw fit to treat the letter with contempt. He attended the Temperance State convention as reporter for the Wheeling Intelligencer. After the adjournment he remained in the telegraph office until after midnight. On returning to his hotel, a man sprang out of an alley and leveled a revolver at his head. The trigger was pulled, and the ball passed through his leg. The McGraw was assisted by the doctor in the closest search, has not been found.

SIX MINUTES LATE.

A Watch That Was Slow Causes Collision.

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—The Ferguson accommodation train on the Washburn railroad, which runs between here and Ferguson, ten miles west, making trips daily and carrying many suburban passengers, collided with a suburban freight train, near Woodstock, a small station seven miles west of this city.

Engineer Stewart of the freight train was caught under the wreck and killed. Conductor Mann was the accommodation train was also crushed so badly that he survived but a short time after being taken out. These things so far as are the only ones killed. The injuries to others on both trains are only scratches and slight bruises. The cause of the accident was the freight conductor being five minutes late. His train should have reached Ferguson before the accommodation left there at 11:45 a. m. The freight train, running the way clear, started out and met the freight on a curve near Woodstock, with the result described.

A SILVER BOOM.

Alleged Discovery of Precious Metals in a Pennsylvania Town.

PITTSBURGH, June 26.—Much excitement prevails over what is claimed to be the discovery of a rich mine of silver at Minersville. John Hackett, a mining engineer, who came here from California, while examining the greater number of indications of silver. He worked quietly at the place for several days, and convinced himself that there was a fortune there. He leased the ground, and has made satisfactory arrangements with the owners to begin digging.

Experts have examined specimens of the rock, and say it is quite rich in what is known in Colorado as white iron, which is found where gold and silver are. The prospectors are already arriving. People are more enthusiastic than when the great oil wells were struck.

ELECTRIC MOTORS.

The "L" Roads in New York to be Run by Electricity.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Thomas A. Edison and his associates have been preparing plans for appliances for electric motors. Mr. Field said:

"Within two months the electric motors will be as complete a success on the elevated railroad as horse cars are on Broadway. All are now laying rails for electricity between the tracks of the Second avenue elevated railroad from Chatham square to Harlem, and if we cannot run over the whole line I am willing to acknowledge the thing a failure. Our trial proves that not half enough has been claimed for the electric motors. All electricians, who have seen the motor work since this problem solved so far as the electrical part is concerned."

A Dead Defaulter.

TEPPE, O., June 26.—It has been discovered that let County Treasurer John Houten was a defaulter in the sum of fifteen thousand dollars. The rumor was first set afloat at Houten's residence. His home was in the day with the county commissioners in examination of the records of his office, with the result above stated. Houten enjoyed the full confidence of the community. He had recently made extensive improvements in his milling property at Attica. It supposed that he used the public funds for that purpose.

On July 1st, the work in the sixth order division of the office of the State Auditor of the Treasury will be divided up, and the bureau made to consist of three divisions, instead of one. The chiefs of the two added divisions will be appointed soon.

SECRETARY MANNING said to a reporter "Under the present Administration, matters were to be conducted on a business like basis, and as the Democratic party was to be held responsible for the action of its officials, it was but just that its own people should hold positions."

It anybody imagines a position in the revenue service under General Robinson will be a sinecure he is very much mistaken. General Robinson is himself a thorough business man and will expect of his subordinates all the labor and active service the proper discharge of duty requires. His administration is going to be an efficient one, and no person who is not prepared by habits of industry, sobriety and intelligence to do the work expected of him need take the trouble to apply for a place. The changes in the service which General Robinson proposes to make, will be announced at an early day, probably shortly after the first of July. These changes must necessarily be gradually made, but when they are announced, it is very certain that they will be entirely satisfactory both to the government and to the Democratic party.

The Harrisburg (Pa.) Patriot says: A Republican contemporary displays its idiocy by such a remark as this: "The good times that were to follow Cleveland's election are still in the dim and distant future."

It would be impossible for the best of administrations to overcome in three months' time, or in a much longer time, the causes of business depression which were so plentifully created during a long period of bad administration. Democratic rulers do not claim to be possessed of magic power to correct such evils in an instant. There has not been much time for the adoption of measures that may bring relief to the industries depressed by the injurious course of Republican rule or to remove the burdens imposed upon the people by vicious and oppressive methods of government.

But in fact the Democrats made no pretensions to an immediate restoration of good times. They indulged in no promises of that kind. It was charged, however, by their opponents that if they should get into power the business interests would be ruined, and this charge had the singular advantage of coming from those whose rule the business of the country had been pretty effectively used up. The promise made by the Democrats was that they would restore honesty to the Government, and they are keeping their pledge. After the rascals have been turned out and the management of public affairs is placed on an honest basis, measures for the restoration of business prosperity will be in order. Towards the end of Cleveland's administration will be the proper time to express an opinion as to whether "good times" under Democratic rule are, or are not, "still in the dim and distant future."

Gas and Gas Stock.

Editor Bulletin: There has been much said and nothing done, as yet, by our gas committee and city council. A large majority of private citizens, who are in the stock now held, that is the bulk of it, cost the present holders 50, 60 and 65 cents on the dollar. One of our prominent citizens says the gas works built by Mr. Jeffries cost $22,000. Admitting that they have cost a great deal more money up to this time, the improvements have been paid for out of money made by the gas company over and above the 8 per cent, which has been paid to holders of gas stock as dividends. There is stock now held in Mayville which pays 16 per cent. Parties holding same only paid 50 cents for it. Now it means that the committee have a proposition from a responsible company to build gas works and furnish gas to private consumers at $1.50 per thousand, half of what they are paying now, and light the city lamps for $555 less than the city is now paying. What right has the city council, as representatives of the people, to entertain any proposition which is over $1.50 per thousand for gas to private consumers and $20 per lamp post per year?

A SUBSCRIBER.

PROTECTING BUNKOISTS.

A Cincinnati Ex-Officio seems to be Deeply Involved.

CINCINNATI, June 26.—Starting developments of official crookedness are made in the police court. For the first time in high authority have been discovered to have been in collusion with an organized gang of swindlers who are driving trade from Cincinnati by robbing merchants from other towns when they visit here.

This gang is the remnants of the famous "bank ring" that flourished a couple of years ago, and their base of operations has been a jewelry store at No. 210 West Fifth street, which is operated by one John McSweeney, alias Swiney, alias Swiney, who is now on the lookout for plucking a young Cincinnati named Smith, who lost $100 in the den.

With him was arrested one Henry Heavens, alias Meyers, a notorious swindler, who acted in the capacity of stealer or "prop" in McSweeney's trial was set before a jury, but by a technicality his attorneys, for he is well provided with them, secured the discharge of the present venire and demanded a new one.

As McSweeney sat in court leisurely looking over his paper through gold mounted eye glasses, he was identified by a gentleman who had been robbed of $40 in his "pocket" by the swindler who conducted the game. The gentleman's name is Theodore L. Burnett, of Gratiot, Preble county, O., where he is well known.

On the 16th of May last, while passing down Fifth street on his way to the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad depot, he was accosted by a stranger who desired to show him some cheap jewelry. He was brought into the den and fleeced out of $40 by the swindle racket, McSweeney being the operator.

After seeing that he had been made a fool of, Mr. Burnett went to the city buildings and reported the loss of his property to the then Chief of Detectives Wapenstein. The latter very abruptly told him to go home and it would be all right—he would get his money. Since that time he has heard nothing of the money.

A friend of his reading of the arrest of McSweeney for a similar offense, wrote a letter to a city official here about the matter. The upshot of the correspondence was that Mr. Burnett, accompanied by his uncle, Mayor Bookwalter, of Winchester, Ohio, arrived here and went to the police court. After consultation with the prosecuting attorney, a warrant charging McSweeney with promoting a "game of chance" was sworn out.

In view of developments in other cases Judge Fitzgerald compelled Mr. Burnett to sign a $1,000 recognizance for his appearance in court.

Detective Phil Rittger arrested McSweeney at his place of business and locked him up at the Central police station.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Quotations of the Stock, Produce and Cash Markets, June 25.

New York—Money at 1 per cent. Exchange Gold Governments firm. Currency steady, 12 1/2 bid; four-cent, 12 1/2 bid. The stock market opened fairly active and closed over last night's closing figures. About first call a number of reports were in circulation to the effect that the Pullman Mail coach company's vessels had been lost at sea. These were coupled by sharp selling of stock, and under its leadership the whole market went off. The Peetco Mail, inside of an hour, sold to 80% from 84%, and weakened the entire list. At midday the lowest prices were current. The decline in the general list ranged 3/4 to 1 per cent. After 1 o'clock on the announcement that the reports of the loss of the vessel had grown out of the fact that one of the company's vessels had gone ashore, and that she would in all probability be floated, the selling ceased, and was followed by some buying for account by interested parties, under which the stock recovered a sharp recovery, while many of the rest of the list recovered to the best figure.

THE EVENING BULLETIN

ROSSER & McARTHUR,
Publishers and Proprietors,
To WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS

FRIDAY, JUNE 26, 1885.

SOME certain things upon our mind Did this impression make;
That Lexington's a bully town
And "burgoo" takes the cake.

HARVESTING has begun in the Southern part of this State.

The Mayville Coal Elevators always knock the bottom out. 25d2t(2)

It is hardly necessary to say that the columns of the BULLETIN are open to all who wish to announce their views on either side of the gas question.

Coal! Coal!

Best Pomeroy, 7 cents, at elevators; 8 cents delivered; Kanawha or Semi-Cannel, 8 cents, at elevators; 9 cents delivered.

It was very gratifying to Mayville people who were at Lexington on Thursday to hear the compliments paid Ringgold and DeKalb lodges and Haucke's Reel and Brass Band.

Mrs. FRANCES A. J. Lloyd, died at her home on Tuckahoe Ridge, last night at nine o'clock. The funeral will be from residence this afternoon at four o'clock.
Services by Rev. R. B. Garrett.

SATURDAY afternoon next, at 4 o'clock, Mrs. Nicholas Cook's two-story frame cottage on the Fleming place will be offered at public sale by M. F. Marsh, agent.
Persons wishing to secure a good home cheap, should be on hand.

The city council, in our opinion, acted with courtesy and fairness, in offering to the Mayville Gas Company the privilege of lighting the city on the terms proposed by foreign companies. If the Mayville company is disposed to accept the offer the contract ought to be closed without hesitation.

Mr. W. H. Polk, the chief of the Lexington Fire Department was polite enough on Thursday to give to some of the Mayville visitors, an exhibition of the efficacy of the fire system of that city. It is one of the best in the United States.
Chief Polk is thoroughly interested in the work and his valuable services to the city, we are pleased to notice, are well appreciated.

The Oddfellows' chorus returning from Lexington, Thursday afternoon treated the passengers on the train to some very choice selections of vocal music. As this is one of the most distinguished musical organizations in the west, the melodies, it is hardly necessary to say, were rendered in an intensely interesting manner. The high notes of several of the choristers were very artistic and particularly pleasing.

We have received a neat pamphlet of forty pages, setting forth the advantages, beauties and resources of the great country of Mason. The little book is just such as will attract the attention of the public and invite people to locate, or at least visit the country. Mr. W. V. Ball, the most efficient Clerk of Mason, is the author of the work, and he deserves the gratitude of the country for the completeness of the undertaking. [Carlisle Mercury.]

The game of ball between the Stars and Victors, of this city, was played on the latter's grounds, in the Fifth Ward, yesterday afternoon, and resulted in a victory for the Stars. The ninth innings resulted in a tie, and the tenth was played to decide the game. The score was as follows: Stars, 28; Victors, 27. Purnell's running catch was good. Keith, as pitcher, did fine work. The home runs made were by Keith and Davis, of the Stars.

Some of the Causes

Giving rise to dyspepsia are over-work, badly cooked food, eating too much, gas, too little sleep, too much worry. Dyspepsia is a curse; but Brown's Iron Bitters is a blessing; because it cures out dyspepsia, and makes suffering people well. Mrs. E. Patton, 2020 Franklin street, St. Louis, says: "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for dyspepsia, and it did me good."

The following communication concerning the Brookville revival has been handed us: "The revival services at Brookville continue with unabated interest.
There has been one hundred and fifty conversions. Mrs. Vonholz and daughter, Miss Ida, are winning the hearts of all classes. All churches are reaping benefits from the revival. Such a religious awakening has never before visited Brookville. A jubilee meeting will soon be held over the conversions of two hundred people. The three hundred converts of Germantown are intending to attend the jubilee. The work continues."

In Hoc Signo Vincas.

St. John's Day, so called from the general supposition that it is the natal day of St. John, the Baptist, was for ages observed as a day of festivities before it became a Masonic holiday. It was for a long time classed among the festival days of the church, but later on the old superstitions concerning the day were away and the mystic order began celebrating it as a Masonic holiday. Just why it is so celebrated by them is to us not definitely known. It may be for the reason that the day is the anniversary of the organization of the first grand lodge of modern Freemasonry. Modern, or speculative Masonry began in London June 24, 1717.
The four lodges of London having enacted themselves into a grand lodge, named the first Grand Master that day.

The latest anniversary of this holiday, Wednesday last, was held upon San Riley and the rest of the boys rather glowing and threatening. Dark clouds of gloom the skies, and the few drops of rain that came patterring down on the dusty streets of Mayville did not give much promise of outdoor festivities that day. The "fraternity," however, didn't intend to let such a little thing as the threatening weather interfere with their sport, and by the time they had all assembled at the "rendezvous," on Market street, they were rather a jolly-looking set of Sir Knight.

The Handy No. 2, chartered for the trip had been "billed" to leave "promptly at 5 o'clock." Captain Redden, no doubt, would have kept up his reputation for promptness, hadn't an unforeseen event (an event, by the way, that the Captain couldn't very well have guarded against) come to pass. It gives the Burlax representative pain to speak of it, but the truth might as well be told on once. Whether it was an enemy or not, hasn't been learned, but some one circulated the report among the crowd that Captain Simonds, the jolly whole-some proprietor of the Central, had laid in a supply of spring chickens for breakfast.
Of course they (the spring chickens) had been provided especially for his board, but the crowd didn't know it. They suddenly came to the conclusion to "take something," and nothing would suit them better than spring chicken for breakfast.
Captain Simonds was suddenly roused to the fact that something ought to be done, and that p. d. q. The very idea of breakfasting at 5 o'clock with 50 cents a meal of spring chickens that cost 40 cents a head, caused visions of bankruptcy to dash before his eyes. Repeated announcements, therefore, by him, that "the boat will leave promptly at 5 o'clock, gentlemen, if there isn't a passenger on board," finally relieved him of his suspense, and got the boys away. It was long past 5 o'clock, however, all this time.

Everything being at last arranged and in readiness, the steamer pulled out. It was 5:15 by the watch when the Fifth Ward grade was left. When we had got started in earnest the Handy showed she was entitled to the reputation she has gained of being a "fast one."

The distance to Manchester (about twelve miles) was made in about one hour's running time. That's not slow time by a long shot. As Captain George W. Tudor, the lady's man of Haucke's band, remarked: "That's Bonanza time."

Nothing unusual occurred on the way up. Captain George Tudor had as usual left all away and showed the boys he could run a boat just as well, if not better, than a hotel. Sir Knight E. E.
Pearce, ousted Captain Bruce Redden and filled the clerk's office to perfection.

A short distance above Rome—not Rome that sat on the Seven Hills and ruled the world, but Rome, Ohio,—plain, simple, unassuming Rome—we received a "friendly tip" from the passengers of the Laura May, an old-looking little steamer that was on her downward course to some Southern seaport.

At 10:45 the boat rounded to at the Vanceburg wharf. The Sir Knights and other members of the mystic order were on hand to welcome their brethren from Mayville and the towns along the way.
The ladies, too, ("God bless 'em.") were out in full force to cheer the weary "pilgrims" after their journey. Led by Haucke's band, the line of march was taken up. At the St. Charles Hotel, a rest was taken and the inner man refreshed, after which a march through the principal thoroughfares was finished, the third winding up at the court house.
Here the welcome address was delivered by Sir Knight S. J. Pugh, after which came the banquet at the St. Charles and feast at the opera house. The exercises were concluded in the afternoon by discusses from Sir Knight J. A. Henderson, of this city, and Hiram Bassett, of Millensburg.

NOTES.

The politician was on hand to get in his work.

"Put on your wings, keep in the middle of the road and fly to heaven."

St. John's Day, 1885, will long be remembered by the Vanceburg people.

Sir Knight James H. Sallee made use of every spare moment in cultivating the acquaintance of the boys. Of course they didn't have to be told that he was a candidate. "Here's looking at you,"

Mr. Commonwealth's Attorney-to-be.

The Sir Knights of Mayville haven't their superiors anywhere in this broad land.

Haucke's band received an unlimited amount of praise from the Vanceburg folks.

J. Barbour Russell was there with his
"R. & R." grip, showing the merchants some "dry samples."

One of the speakers remarked that "a lady's tongue was her sword," and then added: "I've heard it said she never lets it rust in the scabbard."

Sir Knight P. Parker, all during Dr.
Henderson's discourse, was trying his best to paralyze one of Vanceburg's fair maids with his killing smiles.

F. Devine, (our own Frank,) the cigar man, and Harry Wood, who "never gets tired," had gone through by buggy the day before and were on hand to welcome the rest of us.

Our efficient and worthy Circuit Clerk, Ben. D. Parry, Esq., went along "just for fun." While at Vanceburg, he showed the Clerk of Lewis how a Clerk's office ought to be run.

Sir Knight Rev. J. A. Henderson in his discourse gave as a reason for not admitting ladies to the order, that they aren't considered "experts at climbing poles and riding goats."

Mrs. George T. Simonds, Mrs. Judge
Coons, Mrs. Austin Holmes, Mrs. S. S.
Riley, Miss Tina Bledsoe, Mrs. John W.
Watson and a number of other ladies from this city were present.

Colonel Z. T. Young, all the way from "bloody Rowan," was a passenger on the Handy No. 2. It is useless to add that the Colonel let all the boys know he was a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney.

Uncle Buck Ford, of Cattletown, Ky., never enjoys himself better than when with his brother Knights of Mayville Commandery. He used to be a member of the Covington Commandery, but a few years ago, at Cleveland, he was treated so well by the Mayville boys that he cast in his lot with them forthwith.

The Oddfellows' picnic at Woodland Park, Lexington, on Thursday, was one of the most enjoyable affairs in the history of the order in state, and fully sustained the reputation that section of the Commonwealth enjoys for generous hospitality. The lodges from all the neighboring towns, with Currier's band, the Lexington band and Haucke's Reel and Brass Band of this city were present and took part in the procession in the morning. The Mayville party was met at the train by the escort committee and conducted to the Oddfellows headquarters where the keys of the city were handed over to them. The picnic took place in the afternoon in the beautiful park at the outskirts of the city. There was an abundance of every kind of seasonable eatables including "burgoo" for which the Lexington district has long been famous. It was a grand occasion and the opinion prevailed unanimously that the Lexington folks pretty thoroughly understand the business of giving picnics.

Fire at Vanceburg.

Special to Daily Bulletin.
VANCEBURG, Ky., June 26.—The residence of Colonel W. S. Rand, the Methodist Church, and the parsonage adjoining were destroyed by fire last night. The conflagration had its origin in a summer kitchen at the residence of Colonel Rand and is believed to have been the dastardly work of an incendiary. The dwelling was insured for only $500.

PERSONALS.

Miss Julia T. Robb, who has been going to school at Danville has returned home.

Dr. A. G. Browning, who has been at Cincinnati, for several days has returned home.

Mrs. W. H. Garrett, of Millersburg, is visiting her sister, Miss Anna Knox, of this city.

Hon. J. D. Kehoe, who has been in town for several days, left Thursday for Frankfort.

Master Joseph Parks, who has been attending school at Danville, returned home on Thursday.

Mr. Charles Bromley, the new superintendent of the cotton mill, has arrived and will take charge about the 1st of July.

Under the head of "Sentimentalism Run Mad," the New York Sunday Mercury properly says: "Ladies belonging to the flower mission, three Western cities visited the Indiana State prison and gave each convict a handsome bou-quet. It would seem from this that there were no sick-sawing girls, suffering little children and strong men bowed down by poverty to whom their floral offerings would have been welcome, but that distress is only attractive to some people when it gets behind the prison bars.
What the burly convict welcomed with a grin the sick child would have received with grateful smile. It is all wrong.
The man who presented a bill in our Legislature, last winter, making it penal for a woman to have her hair cut by a man, was not such a fool as some of the newspapers tried to prove him."

Didn't Know His Name.

(See Traveler.)
When Eli Perkins was up Little Rock, and while he sat in the rotunda of the hotel, relating his experiences, an old farmer who had been an attentive listener, arose, sighed heavily and remarked to a friend:

"Come, on Sam, let's go. I don't know that man's name and I don't want to hurt his feelings, but blamed if I don't believe that he's the worst cut and dried liar I ever saw. Come on, or he'll fetch the rheumatism back on me so bad I can't hobble."

Just as Good.

Many unscrupulous dealers may tell you they have remedies for coughs and colds, but you can't get any relief from them as the old and reliable Dr. Bosanque's cough syrup is the only one that will take no other, you are liable to be greatly deceived. Price 30 cents and Dr. Bosanque's Cough Syrup.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after sitting warm, is a constant attendant.
Bleeding, itching and itching piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanque's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the inflammation, and effecting a permanent cure.
Price 30 cents. Address the Dr. Bosanque Medicine Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold by Geo. T. Wood.

VERY THRILLING RIDE.

A LADY'S EXPERIENCE WHILE CROSSING THE CONTINENT.

Mysterious Shooting and Death—Insane. Another Bullet—A Missing Bridge—A Fatal Serenade—Texas Pastimes. Fifteen Thieves Hung.

BATH, N. Y., June 26.—Mrs. C. N. Rowell, of Oakland, California, arrived in this village a few days ago, on a visit to relatives, after a trip which was attended with many exciting incidents. While on the train, suddenly there came a noise which Mrs. Rowell says sounded like the falling of a window sash. She looked quickly around and saw Mrs. Pinkham's thirteen-year-old daughter, of Sacramento, who was facing the partition, jump from her seat and fall with a shriek to the floor. The girl was dead and an examination showed that a bullet had entered her breast and lodged in her heart. There was a hole through the partition opposite to where Miss Pinkham had been sitting, which had been made by the bullet. No one was found in the apartment in the rear of the car, and the train was backed to a small village, which it was passing when the shooting occurred.

It was learned there that a man had jumped from the rear of the train soon after it had passed the station, but no trace of him could be found, and no passenger with a ticket for any station east of there was missing. The mystery of the shooting was not explained.

Miss Eunice Johnson, a teacher in the San Francisco schools, who accompanied Miss Pinkham and her mother, was so overcome by the tragedy that she became insane, and grew so violent that it required four men to remove her from the train at Reno, Nevada, where she was to be cared for until the arrival of her friends from San Francisco, in response to telegrams.

Mrs. Rowell proceeded on her journey alone. The day after Miss Johnson was taken from the train, and as it was approaching Salt Lake City, a bullet crashed through the window at which Mrs. Rowell was sitting, not more than three inches above her head, and imbedded itself in the window casing on the opposite side of the car. Pieces of glass broken by the bullet were thrown in Mrs. Rowell's face.

From Salt Lake City she changed to the Denver & Rio Grande railroad. When the train reached the Gunnison river in the evening of the same day, it was brought to a stop by the bridge across the river having been washed away. The train was ordered back to Salt Lake City, where the passengers changed to the Union Pacific railroad, and came east without further excitement or mishap.

FATAL SERENADE.

A Charivari Party Fired Upon by a Brother of the Bride.

PAW PAW, Ill., June 26.—At Mrs. Nettleton's home two miles south of Paw Paw, Tuesday night, Miss Cora Nettleton, her daughter, was married to Charles Palmer, from Nebraska, and about 10 o'clock a crowd of country boys went to Mrs. Nettleton's for the purpose of giving the bride and groom a charivari. A horrible din was made with tin horns and guns were also used. Mrs. Nettleton finally went to the front door and ordered the party out of her yard. The crowd adjourned to the public road, where the noise was resumed.

Arthur Nettleton, a brother of the bride, repaired to an upper window in the house, and without any warning fired the contents of a double-barreled shotgun loaded with buckshot into the crowd, and Louis White, aged 22, was shot in the head and will die. William Hackman, aged 25, fell with a bullet through his abdomen, and several other members of the serenading party were seriously, but not fatally, wounded. Nettleton was arrested. He says it was an accident, and that he meant to frighten the boys without hurting them.

TEXAS TREE FRUIT.

Fifteen Horse Thieves Hung to a Tree by a Pose.

DALLAS, Tex., June 26.—The citizens' posse from the Texas and Indian territory side of the Red river, in the neighborhood of Delaware Bend, who have for several weeks been chasing the gang of outlaws who have been stealing horses and stock, overtook the gang and captured eight of them near Wasita, and hanged them to one tree.

They then went a few miles further and captured four others, whom they also lynched. About two weeks ago three others were lynched, making a total of fifteen. Fully twenty members of the gang have been slain the past spring, and half a dozen officers and citizens have lost their lives.

A CHILD'S HORRIBLE DEATH.

Annie Murray Dashed to Death in the Shafting of a Saw-Mill.

CINCINNATI, June 26.—Annie Murray, aged 10 years, the bright little daughter of Mrs. Mary Murray, a widow, residing on Goodloe street, in Fulton Ky., met with a horrible accident which resulted in her death half an hour later.

Since school closed, it has been customary for the child to stand and watch the revolving machinery in Hunter & Cole's saw-mill, at Goodloe and Litterbury streets. She ventured beyond the line allowed for visitors, and almost before any one knew it, she was caught between the cogs, and an instant later she was being whirled around by the shaft at the rate of thirty revolutions per minute. The machinery was stopped as quickly as possible, and the child removed unconscious to her home around the corner, where she died in half an hour from the effects of a fractional skull, sustained from striking the joints overhead.

CHICAGO, June 26.—J. W. & J. B. Storey, furniture dealers, discovered a deficiency of $5,000 in the account of their confidential book-keeper, A. W. Wright. While experts were examining the books Wright, it is thought, fled to Canada. He has wealthy relatives in the East, and came here from New York two years ago with the highest of recommendations.

Seventy-eight Graduate.

MADISON, Wis., June 26.—The commencement exercises of the State university were held in the presence of nearly two thousand people. Diplomas were awarded to seventy-eight graduates in various cases, and Postmaster General Vilas had the degree of doctor of laws conferred upon him.
